Consolidation of the Oranges.

Meetings have been held in the townships of East and West Orange to consider the project of consolidation with Orange. The popular feeling seems to be generally favorable toward the proposed consolidation in East Orange, and the following resolutions were adopted at the meeting recently held in the latter town:

Resolved, That this meeting favors consolidation with the city of Orange, under conditions securing the interests of this town.

Resolved, That to carry out the above resolution, Messrs. A. P. Condit, J. N. Whiting, G. R. Colby, Frederick Adams, and J. E. Reynolds, be a committee to take necessary action in the matter.

Resolved, That should a bill be introduced before the Legislature, it shall contain a distinct submission, if possible, of the adoption of the same by a vote of the citizens of this town.

All of those present were called upon for an expression of their opinions, and there was a strong sentiment developed in favor of consolidation with Orange, it being the opinion of most of those who spoke that annexation with either Newark or Orange was inevitable. Several gentlemen said they would much rather that the township should remain as it is, but that they preferred Orange to Newark for reasons that small municipalities could be better managed than large ones; that Orange, East and West Orange as one city would be able, with the addition of Montclair and Bloomfield, which it was said, would probably join them in a year or so, to form a city so strong that when they were obliged to go to Newark they could say on what terms they would do so.

It was also the sentiment of the meeting that in the event of annexation to Orange a guarantee must be given that East Orange should constitute three wards of the city, that the consolidation should not be consummated until it had been sanctioned by a vote of the majority of the people. It was urged that Orange and East Orange by uniting under one government could secure a better system of roads, drainage, sewerage, police and fire departments, and that these could be obtained cheaper in this way than by the two separate towns each having their own.

Another gentleman suggested that in the event of consolidation, with a population of twenty thousand the city could have free delivery of letters, that the schools could be better, and that an excellent High School could be established.

It was stated that the people of the lower portion of the township were in favor of annexation to Newark, as they believed they could thus obtain better protection from the police and fire departments.

One of the citizens thought if East Orange was forced to go to Newark it would be in the same condition as Woodside, which had been tacked on to an outlying ward, and had no representation, and if taxes were three times greater than before.

Appropos of the above popular movement in East Orange we find in the Newark Courier the following article, bearing upon the same subject:

SHALL THE COUNTY BE DIVIDED?

The movement for the consolidation of the Oranges and the absorption of adjoining towns by the consolidated municipality, suggests that this is a good opportunity for the discussion of the propriety of erecting Newark into a separate and distinct county. The feeling in favor of this divorce of the city and the townships has been steadily growing among our people for several years past, and in the opinion of many, the time has fully come for the consummation of the division. It is not to be denied that some very strong arguments can be advanced in favor of such a course. Not the least of these is the growing tendency of the townships to impose upon the city, by means of unfair valuations, an undue share of the public burdens, and to absorb for their own benefit an unjust proportion of the county funds. Then, the identity of interest between the city and the country districts is every year becoming less intimate and close—this being the natural and inevitable result of the creation of self-reliant centres of population and business outside of the city limits. Everything, indeed, even in the remotest townships need any longer necessarily depend upon organic union.

We are not prepared to argue this question at this particular moment, and do not commit ourselves finally to one side or the other. We only say that it is a matter whose decision cannot be much longer postponed, and that its discussion is desirable to the end that the determination ultimately arrived at may be for the best interests of all concerned. And we may add, as our decided conviction, that any bill for the division of the county which may be presented to the Legislature, now or hereafter, should include Clinton and East Orange within the limits of the county of Newark.

GENERAL NEWS.

Herman Krull, alias Koewing, who was recently found guilty of attempting to murder his wife in Elizabeth, N. J., was taken to the State Prison at Trenton yesterday, there to serve out the ten years' imprisonment to which he was sentenced. Several hundred men assembled before the jail in Elizabeth when it became known that the prisoner was to be taken that day to the State Prison, and threats were made by many persons that they would seize Krull and hang him. Sheriff Ryder swore in a large number of deputies, and placed them on guard before the prison. He then brought the prisoner out of the back door of the prison and put him quickly into a carriage, which was driven rapidly to the depot of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. No other attempt was made to harm the prisoner, and he was soon on his way to Trenton.

Mrs. Krull is still in Elizabeth, boarding at the house of a friend. She intends to sail for Hamburg, Germany, next week. She owns property in Germany valued at $18,000. Krull's daughters are left in utter poverty. They are said to be endeavoring to obtain situations as governesses in private families.

The Massachusetts Historical Society celebrated the Tea-Party in its own venerable hall. It exhibited for the delight of members a bottle of the Great Original Tea; likewise a dress sword worn by Mr. Josiah Quincy; and John Adams's journal of 1773, wherein he learnedly gives his views concerning the affair in Boston Harbor. At the Faneuil Hall Tea-Party was exhibited the fan of the lady celebrated in Holmes's poem of "Agnes," otherwise Agnes Surriage, who, a girl of all-work at the old Fountain Inn at Marblehead long before the time of Griffin's wharf, benighted and married Sir Henry Frankland, Collector of Boston. She afterwards saved his life at the great Lisbon earthquake, a performance which was doubtless pleasing unto Sir Henry.

The commission appointed by Governor Parker to inquire into the sanity of Jacob Mechella, the condemned murderer, after the consultation Saturday decided to recommend to imprisonment for life, although they believe him to be sane. It has not yet been definitely settled whether Governor Parker will call a special session of the Court of Pardons to consider the case. It was understood that he could not do so unless the commission appointed to make the investigation should report that the prisoner is insane.

The Town Council of East Orange have adopted a plan for the relief of the unemployed poor of that township. Work is to be given to such as apply and payment made in provisions, such as flour, meat, potatoes, coal, etc., the articles to be purchased by a committee for that purpose. The men are to receive 12½ cents per hour. It is thought that by this plan only those deserving work would apply for it, and that the women and children would get their share of wages earned.

On Monday night, at an election of officers of Alpha Lodge, No. 116, in Newark, John H. O'Pake was elected Junior Warden, and Elias S. Ray Junior Deacon. Both were colored men. This is the first time in the history of New Jersey Masonry that a colored man has been elected an officer of a regularly and duly constituted lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. It has only been three years that a colored man could be made a Mason in this State.

A marriage was announced to take place at Vineland on Tuesday evening last, between a young couple of that place. In the morning the young lady received a letter from her affianced lover, announcing his intention to forego the ceremony. This so affected the expectant bride that she swallowed a large dose of laudanum, but prompt medical aid prevented the poison from having a fatal effect.

Negotiations are pending for the purchase of the Independent, of which Henry C. Bowen is editor and proprietor, by the owners of the Christian at Work, of which the Rev. Dr. Talmage is editor. The price asked is said to be $500,000, and the price offered $200,000—a sufficient margin for bargaining. Should the transfer be made the two papers will be consolidated under the name of the Independent.

David Nesbitt, for shooting Miss Hopwood was executed at Lindsay, Canada, on Friday morning. He met his death firmly on the scaffold; asserted his innocence, declaring that the woman shot herself. He reviled the clergy and died unrepentant.

The death of John P. Hale brings to light a fact that it was a daughter of Mr. Hale who was engaged to Wilkes Booth, the man who shot President Lincoln. In Booth's diary, which was taken from his body, there was a picture of this lady.

Aldermanic work in Fort Scott, Kansas, is onerous, and doesn't pay. Mrs. Guernsey fired at some burglars one night, and the next day one of the Aldermen had his arm amputated.

Mrs. Alexander Agassiz, wife the late Prof. Agassiz's son, died on Monday night of pneumonia, superinduced by her unremitting care of her father-in-law during his illness.

One of the charges brought against Attorney General Williams is, that the Government was made to pay $1,600 for a carriage for Mrs. Williams.
